Standing on the verge of grand celebrations for the port's 125 years of existence facing eras of British Empire as well as post independence after creation of the motherland Pakistan gives a unique sense of achievements to the workers and officers of the port. It is under the strong leadership and most importantly the Karachi Port Trust Act of 1886 that has carried the port forward in establishing itself as a premier port of Pakistan. Massive developments have taken place in the port since the independence. Continuing this momentum of celebrations, the port hosted an interdivisional cricket tournament in which all the six divisions participated. The event which started as a "tape ball" tournament ended with a grand finale as a team of officers and staff of Karachi Port. The tournament which was meant to create an environment of fanfare and thrill ended up in narrowing gap between officers and staff along with fulfillment of objectives. The enthusiasm was such that it ended on a note to arrange something for women officers and workers of the port which hopefully will get materialized in due course.

This year, the Public Relations Department planted a tree to celebrate the Earth Day, in the month of April, for the first time in KPT Head Office. Followed by this and like every year, the Marine Pollution Control Department hosted mangrove sapling plantation on Global Environment Day at a local hotel in which the General Manager Operations Rear Admiral Azhar Hayat was the chief guest and it also features the participation of KPT School children. Event like these when hosted on regular basis inculcates environment friendly education to youngsters in whose hands rests the nationhood and nation build up.

My visit to Manora & KPT Head Office

By Muhammad Ehtisham
S/o Abdul Qadeer

On 29th June, 2012 we decided to go on picnic to a beautiful place called Manora. We went to Karachi Port Trust and we got on boat at around 09:30am. At 10:30am we reached Manora where we did swimming and horse riding. We also took some photographs of the big cargo ships and cranes which were unloading the containers. KPT staff was found very alert particularly the Port Security Force and deployment of Pakistan Navy on Navy submarines. Me and my cousins went back at 04:30pm to historical building of KPT Head Office, we were surprised to see a well maintained historical building. At the new reception, we saw the very alert security officials of PSF and a big digital screen that was installed to provide various information about the history and big projects undertaken by Karachi Port Trust. Inside the building there is also a beautiful fountain. While visiting all the departments of KPT, we found all officers and employees committed, vigilant and efficient. All offices were fully equipped with latest computers, scanners, photostate machines and all other necessary office automation required for smooth running of any organization. Another big digital screen was installed in the old reception area to welcome the coming guests. I must say that this was a memorable visit / picnic of these two marvelous places of Karachi.
